The authors regret the incorrect citation of a reference that should not be cited in this paper. In section 2.5 ‘Data management and presentation of data’, the following text appears ‘When calculating the mean value of nutrients where one or more samples presented values < LOQ, the respective LOQ was divided by 2 as suggested by Helsel (Helsel, 2006)’. The article by Helsel should not be cited here, and the sentence should read ‘When calculating the mean value of nutrients where one or more samples presented values < LOQ, the respective LOQ was divided by 2’. The reference should also be removed from the reference list, as this is the only section in the paper where this article is cited.

The authors would like to apologise for any inconvenience caused.
